'SWING MACHINE' COMES TO CRATFIELD

Can you believe we will be having a 'live' swing band in our Village. That opportunity doesn't come along very often. All you have to do is walk up the road. After watching the Royal Wedding and the Cup Final on the TV, you will need to swing those legs!

Please come along and support Richard Turberville who lives in our Village and is a member of the band.

The music of Glenn Miller, Count Basie, Duke Ellington and more, all in our beautiful church. So if you haven't already booked your tickets for what promises to be a really good night please Call the Ticket Hotline 07906 509302

Ticket prices on the poster.

There will be some light refreshments included in the price of your ticket and we will have a 'donations' bar.

COME ALONG FOR SOMETHING DIFFERENT

DATE FOR YOUR DIARY

Cratfield Horticultural Show Saturday 4th August

This year's schedule is included with this magazine to give you an idea of what you could be thinking of growing, baking or making. The last three shows have been successful with people realising that their produce bears comparison to many of the other entries – please help to make this the best one yet. We have deliberately not included a recipe this year allowing you to use your favourite Chocolate Cake and/or Carrot Cake recipe. There was considerable competition among the men of the village last year so we have kept the Sausage Rolls and included the Loaf of Bread which was a great success in the first show.

Look forward to seeing as many of you as possible on August 4th.

Please contact Carolyn White on 799187 if you have any questions.

*Laxfield Produce, Craft and Flea Market
Saturday 7th April 10am -12.30pm*

your friendly community market held in All Saint's Church & the Royal Oak and outside on Church Plain

This April Market will be choc full of interesting goodies with around 40 stalls. Come and peruse and purchase from excellent crafts, collectibles, loft clearances, household items and vintage gems, plants, as well as delicious food items including free-range eggs, welfare-friendly meats and goat's cheese, and baked goodies. All local and independent. You never know what you will find at a Laxfield Market.

It's good that there are now 'winter' Markets held in January and February, as arctic conditions in March caused last month's Market to be cancelled, the earlier two enjoying balmy weather by comparison! For this reason the Fairtrade Fortnight will be just a month late and Sue's stall will be set up ready for business, so come along and support independent growers abroad. Suffolk Silly Spoons will make another attempt to join in the Market fun for the first time, so look out for those as well.

Entertainment this month is well-known Laxfield singer/songwriter, Tony Winn (famous with his unique 'man in the bath-tub' show). Tony will be singing in the Church in advance of a top class Americana evening, when he will be performing with friends in the village hall on the 14 April.

Listen to local radio station, Park Radio, on the 6 April between 11 and noon, to hear stall-holder Christopher Leggett putting Laxfield on the map by speaking about your friendly community monthly Market.

Please contact Catherine Cawood on 01986 798852 for info on pitch spaces or news of any buskers available for entertainment – musicians, singers, dancers, performers of any sort.

Cake of the month – Lemon and Pistachio

Breakfasts, bacon rolls, tea, coffee and cake and lunches and beer all available

The Laxfield Produce, Craft and Flea Market welcomes you for a sociable time on the first Saturday morning of every month

'Take me home country road' (John Denver)

Do you sometimes despair as you hit yet another pothole, have to reverse for ever to accommodate another road user (this being one of the few disadvantages of country living) or get stuck in yet another hold-up on the M25. Well, roads have been causing problems for a very long time.

Have you ever been phased by one way streets when trying to navigate your way around an unknown area? More than likely. But, do you know how long one way streets have been around? Much longer than you think.

It was August 1617 that Pudding Lane and 16 other narrow lanes in the City of London were subject to an order regulating cart traffic and only allowing it to travel in one direction. One hundred years later traffic across London Bridge needed to be sorted out.

The traffic problem on the Bridge had grown ever since it was first opened. London Bridge, the first stone-built bridge over the Thames, was the only route across the river and so it was always jammed up. The houses and shops which had been built along both sides of the bridge reduced the roadway width to a mere 4 metres (about 13 feet). Back in 1358 there were 138 registered premises as well as a chapel and a 'public latrine' on the bridge. The traffic was horrendous and usually queued all the way back up Fish Hill and into Cheapside. The only good thing about this was that the traders in Cheapside enjoyed the luxury of having a captive audience to sell their wares to.

In 1722 the Lord Mayor decided that the chaos had to stop and that all traffic queueing for the Bridge should take to one side of the street, the left. All traffic going South had to stick to the Eastern side of the Bridge whilst crossing and all the traffic coming in from Southwark had to stick to the Western side. This traffic control system also introduced No Waiting Zones and Traffic Wardens!

Maybe the rose-tinted view of Old London Bridge with all those shops and houses isn't so rosy now.

VILLAGE HALL NEWS

Village Hall pop-up back in business

We're sorry we couldn't open the pop-up pub at the beginning of March. It wasn't just that the lane and car park were dangerously icy, but icy blasts and wind chill froze the water in the lavatories. Thank you Robert Sannick for going out every day during the cold snap and ensuring that there were no burst pipes.

The pop-up is open again on Friday April 6th when we have John O'Brien's karaoke.
Open at 6.00pm, the music starts at 8.30.

Hot food from Cratfield Kitchen.

May's pop-up is Friday 4th.

Stanley Holloway and the Baby Boomers

Last year as my contribution to the Harvest Festival celebration at St Mary's Church I recited Stanley Holloway's Albert and the Lion – people seemed to quite like it! As us baby boomers mature we become increasingly aware of our own mortality – this is underlined by the passing of some of our greatest musical heroes. Inspired by this I decided to have a go at updating another classic Stanley Holloway monologue.

MY WORD, YOU DO LOOK QUEER With apologies to Bob Weston & Bert Lee

I've been very poorly but now I feel prime,
I've been out today for the very first time.
I felt like a lad as I walked down the road,
Then I met David Bowie and he said, 'Well I'm blowed!
My word, you do look queer!
My word, you do look queer!

Oh, dear! You look dreadful: you've had a near shave,
You look like a man with one foot in the grave.
Just like me in Blackstar when on my way out.
At least in the video I still moved about,
As I danced and I warbled on my rock swan song.
You just look plain awful, your time won't be long
My word, you do look queer!

That didn't improve me, it caused me some pain
Still, I walked farther on, and I saw Kurt Cobain.
He said, 'My word you look pecky today
It's better to burn out than just fade away,
By Gosh you are fading. Well, well I declare!
Your life looks quite over, you haven't a prayer.
My word, you do look queer!
My word, you do look queer!

That really upset me; I felt quite cast down,
But I tried to buck up, and who did I see?
The late Leonard Cohen who came up to me
He stared at me hard, then he solemnly said,
'You shouldn't be out, you ought to be dead.
I'm bad enough, but you are far gone.

You look like a corpse with an overcoat on.
'My word you do look queer!
My word you do look queer!'

I crawled in the street and I murmured, 'I'm done.'
Then came old Keith Richards and he shouted, 'By gum!
My word you do look well!
My word you do look well!
You look fine as me and quite in the pink!
I shouted, 'Am I?... Come let's have a drink!
You've put new life in me, I'm sound as a bell
Now let's get together and raise Merry Hell
My word, I do feel well!'

Nigel Cousins

Don't be disappointed if people refuse to help you. Remember the words of Einstein; 'I am thankful to all those who said NO. Because of them, I did it myself.'

Always be yourself, because the people that matter don't mind, and the ones that mind don't matter.

Do not spoil what you have by desiring what you have not; but remember that what you have was once among the things you only hoped for.

Don't base your decisions on the advice of those who don't have to deal with the results.

Local people can now sign up to the new Garden Waste Collection Scheme being provided by Suffolk Coastal District Council.

Suffolk Coastal District Council is introducing a £43 a year charge for collecting garden waste this financial year (2018/19).

The scheme is optional, with the first paid-for collections scheduled to start from the beginning of May 2018.

It's quick and easy to sign up, either:

- ✓ Go online at: my.eastsuffolk.gov.uk/MyServices. You will need to register, or login to, your My Eastsuffolk account and then complete the form for garden waste
- ✓ Call Customer Services on 01394 383789, and choosing option '0'.
 - ✓ Or, pop in to see our Customer Service staff in the Customer Service Centre in Felixstowe and Woodbridge Libraries.

You will need a debit or credit card to pay. The fee for one bin is £43 for a year (the equivalent of paying about £1.65 per fortnightly collection). You can place your order now and don't forget to say 'YES' to the upgrade.

Own a share in Domaine du Grand Mayne

Many years ago Caroline gave me an unusual birthday present – renting a row of vines in a Provencal vineyard! This was a scheme run by Wineshare – members being able to buy the wines at a discounted price and could also join in harvesting, pressing and various social events at the vineyard – Constantin Chevalier in Lourmarin. The wines were wonderful, but after a few years the Pound/ Franc relationship was so poor that the wines became rather expensive. Wineshare folded and one of the sister vineyards – Domainedu Grand Mayne- went 'downhill'.

www.shutterstock.com 755247173

Later one of the original directors of Wineshare bought the somewhat run-down Grand Mayne vineyard. He worked hard to make it productive again, but realised that he needed to get a substantial investment if it was to really succeed and so appealed to the old Wineshare members via crowd-funding to invest, each buying a £500 stake in the business. This was not really a shareholding investment for future profit but more like the Wineshare membership – enjoying being part of Grand Mayne and getting discounted prices on the wines. The quality and production has improved year on year with several prizes for the wines.

This coming May, Domaine du Grand Mayne will have another share offer and I thought Cratfield residents might like to have a look at the website and read all about the vineyard, its wines and the benefits of being a shareholder. I'm sure there are a few wine buffs/fans out there!

When we are able to do the Bistro evening, Richard Boden from the vineyard has agreed to send some bottles for a tasting – thank you Richard! I also thought that if a few people decide to become shareholders we could create a Cratfield sub-shareholdership (if that's a real word!) and one or two of us could do a day or overnight trip to Calais to pick up wines at a considerable saving over UK purchase.

If any of this is of interest, go to www.domaine-du-grand-mayne.com and read all about it.

Happy quaffing

Paul Marfleet

Perhaps nothing to worry about around here, but something to be aware of further afield.
Maybe going up 'that London'.

Digital pick-pockets

The modern digital age continues to offer greater ease for criminals to get what they want from the comfort of their armchairs. What a boon it has been for them: now no need for sawn off shot-guns, fast cars, oxyacetylene cutters, and all that tedious digging of tunnels to get into the fortified bank vault. Now just the right digital device and a little software and they're in. There are over 90 million contact-less cards in the UK. Digital pick-pockets can skim your card using a device in a briefcase or with a Smartphone, a few inches from your bag or wallet. Also larger devices, requiring a rucksack with an aerial inside, can skim all the cards in a bus or half a railway carriage.

What can they get from the card? : the number and the date of expiry; and with some cards the last ten transactions you have made. What can they do with it? : the card can be cloned (a viable copy made). This can then be used abroad where checks are not always made on ownership of the card and any amount can be spent. Using the number and expiry date, up to £30 can be spent in one transaction on such internet sites as Amazon. The purchase can be sent to any address.

What can you do? The only way to be sure this doesn't happen to you is not to have a contact-less card. You can get a special skim proof wallet or obtain what is called a 'blocking card' to keep on either side of your contact-less card. These will cost money, but of course they will not work when your card is not in their protection zone. It is to be sure that it will not be long before the criminals find a way to penetrate the protection.

The Rectory, Noyes Avenue, Laxfield

April 1st is not only April Fool's day but more importantly it is Easter Sunday. It is not a bad conjunction because all of us who follow Christ are subject to ridicule and taunts of foolishness. As Christians we all try our hardest to follow the way of love, to do unto others what we would have done to us. It is not easy and many would say we have been duped by superstition and story. So I will tell you a true story.

A college professor was visiting the Fiji Islands. Being agnostic, he critically remarked to an elderly chief, "You're a great leader, but it's a pity you've been taken in by those foreign missionaries. They only want to get rich through you. No one believes the Bible any more. People are tired of the threadbare story of Christ dying on a cross for the sins of mankind. They know better now. I'm sorry you've been so foolish as to accept their story." The old chief's eyes flashed as he answered, "See that great rock over there? On it we smashed the heads of our victims. Notice the furnace next to it? In that oven we formerly roasted the bodies of our enemies. If it hadn't been for those good missionaries and the love of Jesus that changed us from cannibals into Christians, you'd never leave this place alive! You'd better thank the Lord for the Gospel; otherwise we'd already be feasting on you. If it weren't for the Bible, you'd now be our supper!

It may seem foolish to somewhat Christians believe and in these 'sophisticated' times difficult to justify but I'd rather be a fool than not try at all.

A man seeing Charles Wesley walking down the street stood in front of him and said "I never get out of the way of a fool!" Wesley looked at him, smiled and said, "But I do" with that he stepped aside and walked round the man.
